

Biography

Assistant Professor Naya Sucha-xaya, PhD

- Faculty member, Department of Library Science, Faculty of Arts, Chulalongkorn University

Biography

Assistant Professor Naya Sucha-xaya, PhD is a faculty member at the Department of Library Science, Faculty of Arts, Chulalongkorn University. In the Master's Program in Data and Information Curation, she teaches archival cultural heritage information courses such as archives management, appraisal and acquisition of archival documents, and history of recordkeeping. Apart from the Thai program, she also teaches and serves as secretary of the Graduate Programs in Information Studies (international program).

Dr. Sucha-xaya's educational background is in archives and records management. Since earning her master's and doctoral degrees from University College London, UK, she has pursued research interests in archival theories and practices and their adaptation amid technological changes and diverse socio-cultural contexts.