Mr. Zaidil has had a long and distinguished career as a professional archivist in Malaysia. He began his journey in 2005 when he joined the National Archives of Malaysia (NAM) as a junior archivist. Over the years, he has worked tirelessly to hone his skills and develop a deep understanding of archival practices and procedures. In 2003, Mr. Zaidil graduated with a Master of Information Technology from Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia. This educational background has served him well throughout his career, providing him with a strong foundation in information management and technological expertise. In addition to his work at NAM, Mr. Zaidil has also worked as a cadre officer at the Federal Court of Malaysia from 2017 to 2020. During this time, he gained valuable experience in managing legal records and ensuring their proper preservation and maintenance. Currently, Mr. Zaidil serves as the Head of Digital Archives Section at NAM. In this role, he oversees the acquisition and receipt of audiovisual archive materials, ensuring their preservation and conservation in accordance with international archives best practices. He also provides effective reference and access facilities for researchers, ensuring that the archives are accessible to all who need them.

Overall, Mr. Zaidil's dedication and commitment to the field of archiving make him a valuable asset to the National Archives of Malaysia. His expertise and experience continue to make a significant contribution to the preservation and maintenance of Malaysia's rich cultural heritage.
