

Biography

John Choo

John Choo is an Assistant Specialist at the Oral History Centre, National Archives of Singapore. As an oral history interviewer, he has conversed with religious practitioners, charity employees, corporate volunteers, community leaders, and para-athletes. A significant number of these conversations took place during the recent COVID-19 pandemic, which forced the use of remote audio-visual platforms and other digital technologies.